ELECTION RETURNS.

Result of the Ballots of Yesterday's Contest.

THE RETURNS NOT YET ALL IN.

Ohio Goes Republican by a Large Majority, While Several Other States Show Democratic Gains—McKinley Re-Elected to Congress from the Tenth Ohio District by a Small Majority

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—Early returns from nearly every section of the state indicate a Republican victory by majorities ranging from 12,000 to 20,000. The result is no surprise, however, as Ohio may be relied upon to give a decisive Republican majority when there are no demoralizing agents at work in the party. Not only were the Republicans at peace with each other this year, but their opponents were afflicted with the worst case of apathy they have experienced for a long time.

There was much more interest centered in the congressional campaign than in the state contest. As will be remembered, the Democratic legislature last winter so gerrymandered the state as to be morally certain of electing a majority of the Ohio delegation in the National house from their party. Based on the returns of last autumn, the gerrymander showed that sixteen Democrats and five Republicans would be elected.

The result of last fall's election could not be relied upon, however, as indicating the exact political status of the new districts, as there was a factional fight in the Republican party at that time. None who correctly understood the situation believed there would be a delegation of 16 to 5. It now looks as though the result would give the Democrats a bare majority in the delegation.

The fight in the Sixteenth district between Maj. McKinley, the author of the new tariff law, and ex-Lieutenant Governor Warwick, has attracted National interest. No other district in the United States has been watched more close than McKinley's. With a majority of nearly 3,000 in favor of Mr. Warwick, it has been generally held that McKinley's defeat was inevitable, but the majority of Governor Warwick, as claimed by the Democrats, has been slowly dropping down until late yesterday, before the count, they only claimed his election by 600.

One hundred and eighty-nine precincts in Ohio outside of Hamilton county give Ryan 26,488, Cromley 24,844, Lockwood 1,441. Same precincts in 1889 gave Foraker 27,799, Campbell 26,-826, Helwig 1,514.

At this rate the state outside of Hamilton county will give the Democrats a majority of 3,500, but in Hamilton county the returns indicate a majority of 7,000 for the Republicans.

Returns from the Thirteenth congression district show that Dungan, Democrat, is running considerably behind the ticket.

Two private telegrams have just been received at the Republican headquarters, which, if true, insure the election of McKinley. One of the telegrams states that Wayne county gives McKinley 900 majority, which shows a change of 1,800 votes in his favor. The other dispatch states that in fourteen precincts of Starke county, McKinley's home, McKinley made a gain of 846 votes.

Donivan, Democrat, is elected over Brigham, Republican, in the Sixth congressional district.

In the Second congressional district, Caldwell, Republican, is elected over Brown, Democrat.

In the First district, Storer, Republican, for congress, is certainly elected.

A dispatch from Piqua says: All returns give Orr, Republican candidate for congress, 384 majority. This district gave Cleveland 2,554 in 1888, and Campbell 3,857 in 1889.

At 2 o'clock this morning an official telegram was received here announcing that the Democratic congressional committee of McKinley's district, concedes his election by a small majority. The Democratic state executive committee received the same information from another source, and admit that they are afraid it is true.

Eleven precincts in the Fourteenth congressional district, indicate Owens, Democrat, will carry it by 3,000, and Cromley will carry the county by 1,000.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 5.—The indications are that Johnson, Democratic candidate for congressman in this district, is elected by 1,700 plurality. The Republican county ticket, except perhaps the candidate for sheriff, is elected.

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 5.—Mansfield complete gives Ryan, 1,231; Cromley, 1,627; Democratic loss, 126. On congressman, Sackett, Republican, 1,172; Harter, Democrat, 1,685.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—Under the new law the voting precincts were increased from 1,853 to 2,919. There is some delay in gathering the returns by precincts.

The townships in Indiana give Mathews, Democrat, for secretary of state, 1,474; Trusler, Republican, 1,311. In 1888 the same townships gave Cleveland 1,691; Harrison, 2,328. Democratic loss, 225; Republican loss, 547; net Democratic gain, 292.

Fifty townships in Indiana give Matthews, 6,994; Trusler, 8,993.

The chairman of the Democratic committee claims a majority of not less than 16,000 on the state ticket and eleven out of the thirteen members of congress.

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Tammany Hall has gained a decisive victory over the Republican and County Democracy (Fusion). Grant, for mayor, is not likely to fall below 22,000 majority over Scott. The vote for district attorney, in which it was expected that Delancey Nicoll, the Tammany nominee, would fall far behind the vote for Grant, will show that he has a majority of nearly 21,000 over the Fusion candidate.

All the Tammany candidates for the other county offices, namely, sheriff, president of the board of alderman and county clerk have average majorities of 20,000. The vote for superior court judges and city court judges shows the same majority in favor of Tammany candidates. In the city over 200,000 votes have been cast out of the registration of 245,000. The county officers elected are, therefore, the Tammany nominees, Grant, mayor; Gorman, sheriff; Giegerich, county clerk; Arnold, president of the board of alderman.

All the successful candidates in the Fourth, Sixth, Sixteenth and Twenty-second districts are Democrats elected on the fusion ticket.

The Democrats carried every congressional district in the city. The Democracy has also made a decisive victory in the assembly. Those elected, with five exceptions, are Tammany nominees.

Tammany's victories for members of the board of aldermen, are in the same proportion as that for the assembly.

The gains of assemblymen made by the Democrats will give them the legislature on joint ballot, securing the election of a Democratic United States senator from this state.

Returns thus far received from assembly districts indicate the election to the assembly of sixty-eight Democrats and sixty Republicans.

The latest corrected returns from the various assembly districts give the Democrats sixty-seven and the Republicans sixty-one members. This will make the legislature a tie on joint ballot.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Twenty-four counties, including Allegheny, but not including Philadelphia, gave Pattison, Democrat for governor a net purality of 7,165. These twenty-four counties in 1886 gave Beaver, Republican, a net plurality of 12,570, showing a net Democratic gain of 19,735.

Philadelphia gives a Republican majority of 19,594 with one ward to hear from.

At Democratic headquarters the election of Pattison for governor is claimed by 10,000 majority.

Chairman Andrews, of the Republican committee, makes the following statement: "The Republican state committee believe Delamater has a plurality, but the result is close, and it may take the official figures to determine."

Chairman Kerr, of the Democratic state committee, claims the state by 10,-000 majority. He asserts that his advices show that Pattison will come to Philadelphia with not less than 30,000 majority.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—George D. Wise is re-elected in this the, Third district. His majority in the city is more than 7,000. Eight of the ten districts of the state are certainly Democratic, with strong chances of the other two being Democratic. The day passed quietly here, there being no opposition.

Burkeville went Democratic for the first time in twenty-five years.

Eighth district returns show Gen. W. H. F. Lee, Democrat, is elected to congress by 2,900 majority over Frank Hume, Independent Democrat; a Democratic increase of 1,800 over 1888.

The Democrats probably gain congressmen in the First and Second districts. Langston is probably defeated in the Fourth district. The Democrats re-elect their candidates in the Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth districts, reports from the Ninth districts are meagre.

Gen. Lee's majority is not less then 2,500. Private messages indicate the election of a a solid Democratic congressional delegation.

New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 5.—The indications at this hour are that there is no choice of governor by the people of this state; that McKinney, Democrat, is elected to congress in the First district, and that the Second district is very close, the chances being in favor of Moore, Republican. In 1,873 towns the Democrats gain eighteen members of the house of representatives and at their headquarters in this city claim they have carried it by a good majority.

The Democratic gain in 114 towns is over 1,200, and Amsden, Democrat, is probably elected by the people, and the legislature is probably Democratic, insuring the election of a Democrat to succeed United States Senator Blair. McKinney, Democrat, is elected in the First congressional district. The Democrats also claim the Second district.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5.—Returns from all parts of the state are late and cannot be given at present. The gubernatorial candidates are making a close run with the chances in favor of the Republican nominee. The Democrats claim the First, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh congressional districts with the Tenth doubtful. The Republican committee claim that no sufficient returns have been received to base an estimate upon.

Two hundred and nine precincts, including fifty-six in Detroit, give Turner, Republican, 23,959; Wimans, Democrat, 27,085. The indications are the Republicans elect Cutcheon in the Nineteenth district and Stephenson in the Eleventh. The Democrats elect Chipman in the First, Witney in the Seventh, and probably Weadock in the Tenth congressional districts.

Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Recent returns point to the undoubted election of ten Republican congressmen, six Democratic congressmen with four districts of the state still in doubt.

Returns on state ticket are coming in slowly. Only eight counties in the state, exclusive of Cook, has thus far been heard from. Vote of these on state treasurer gives Amburg, Republican, net plurality of 2,500 over Wilson.

The Democratic state central committee claim that they have certainly gained three congressmen and probably five, and that they have carried the state by a good majority. Nothing definite can be given about Cook county.

Furman, Democrat, is probably elected to congress from the Eighteenth district. The Republican state committee claims that Cameron is elected.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 5.—One hundred precincts in the state, including fifty-five precincts in Milwaukee, show a net Democratic gain of 6,280.

John L. Mitchell, Democrat, has a majority, it is estimated, of 5,000 in the Fourth congressional district over Spencer, Republican. District was formerly represented by Republican.

The state is in doubt, the new election law bringing returns in very slowly.

The Republicans lose one congressman, Mitchell, Democrat being elected in this district. The returns so far indicate election of Cooper, Republican for congress.

New Jersey.

KEYPORT, N. J., Nov. 5.—The election yesterday was the quietest in years, the vote being light. The new voting system worked well. The indications are that Gessenheimer, Democrat, for congress, and Brown, Democrat, for state senator, are elected. The Republicans concede all three assembly districts to the Democrats. It is believed that John T. Height, Democrat, has been elected county clerk by 400 majority. United States Senator Blodgett predicts a sweeping Democratic victory throughout the state.

Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 5.—Returns from ten districts out of twenty-seven, of this city, show a Republican gain of over 500. The city will probably go Republican by a safe majority. Returns from the counties are coming in very slowly. New Castle county may be Democratic by a small majority, but the Republicans claim it. Kenty and Sussex also in doubt. No figures are yet obtainable from the counties. Present indications point to the election of the entire Republican state congressional and legislative ticket, but definite returns may change the result.

Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The latest returns indicate that Meyer, Democrat, has defeated Warmoth, Republican, for congress in the First district by 2,000 majority, and that Lagan, Democrat, has defeated Coleman, Republican, for congress in the Second district by 3,000. In the other districts there was no organized opposition to the Democrats, and the following were re-elected to congress: Third district Andrew, Price; Fourth district, W. H. Blanchard; Fifth district, C. J. Boatner; Sixth district, S. M. Robertson.

North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 5.—Indications are that the Democrats carry the state by 10,000. Large Democrat gains are reported in the congressional vote in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Ninth districts, and Democrat gains in the legislative tickets steadily increasing.

Returns from 110 precincts show a Democratic gain of 4,000, also Democratic gains in legislature. News is received from the Sixth congressional district that S. B. Alexander, Democrat, is elected by 600 majority.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The Republicans lead in this city and county. Returns from the state are coming in slowly, but so far they are favorable to Markham, Republican.

Clunie, Democrat, is running behind his ticket in the Fifth congressional district and is probably defeated. The election of Cutting, Republican, in the Fourth and the re-election of McKenna, Republican, in the Third is indicated. Returns from the other three districts are meagre.

Georgia.

ATLANTA, Nov. 5.—Returns from sixteen of the prominent precincts of the Seventh district gives Felton, Independent Democrat, over Everett, the Democratic nominee, a slight majority. This includes Rome, Felton's stronghold. This indicates Everett's election beyond a doubt. The election of Winn, the Democratic nominee, in the Ninth district is conceded. This makes a straight sweep for the Democrats and will give a solid congressional delegation.

Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—The Republican state central committee claim the estate by 8,000 to 10,000 plurality, estimate based on latest returns. The Democrat committee will not give estimate yet.

The Democrats claim three congressmen in First, Third and Fourth districts, and are hopeful for governor, but it is probable that Meriam, Republican, is elected by a small majority.

Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 5.—With the exception of trouble at Pine Bluff, where a negro deputy sheriff fatally wounded a policeman named Leaming and shot two more, all white, the election in Arkansas was quiet. Returns coming in indicate Democratic gains over the state election in September. Democrats claim the election of all the congressmen including Breckenridge in the Second district.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—One hundred and sixty-five towns and cities, including Boston, Fall River, Taunton, Brockton, Haverhill and Newburyport, give Blackmer, Prohibitionist, 7,057; Brackett, Republican, 65,122; Russell, Democrat, 73,-[illegible]. Same towns last year gave Blackmer 8,763, Brackett 65,633, Russell 63,-050—a net gain for Russell of 19,819.

Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—The Democratic state ticket is estimated elected by over 15,000 majority. Both Democratic congressmen are elected by largely increased majorities.

The constitutional amendment separating the dates of the National and state elections is probably carried. It is a Democratic measure.

South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 5.—No disturbance in the state. Returns are coming in rapidly and indicate the certain election of Tillman, the regular Democrat candidate. All the Democratic state officers and candidates for congress are elected with the possible exception of congressman for the Seventh district.

Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—The Democratic state central committee claims a solid congressional delegation.

It is claimed that John J. O'Neill, Democrat, is elected by 1,000 majority in the Eighth congressional district, which two years ago gave a Republican majority of 2,000.

Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5.—Scattering returns received are sufficient to show that the complete Democratic ticket is elected in this state. Telegrams from points in every district shows that the Farmers' Alliance men did not vote for the independents except to a very limited extent.

Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 5.—The Democratic majority for governor is not less than 25,000. Goano, Republican, for congress in the Third district has been defeated.

Returns from the Third district, which is now Republican, shows a Democratic gain of 1,000, indicating a Democratic victory.

Nebraska.

OMAHA, Nov. 5.—Returns from over the state are too scarce to bear positive assertion on, but the election of Boyd, Democrat, for gonernor, the choice of the Democratic congressmen and defeat of Prohibition. Majority against latter will be above 15,000.

Iowa.

DES MOINES, Nov. 5.—One hundred and thirty precincts show a net Democratic gain of 2,097.

The Republican state committee claim the state by 5,000 majority and all the congressional districts except the First and Second.

West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 5.—Present returns indicate the election of the entire Democratic delegation in congress. Wilson, Capehart and Alderson, Democrats, are undoubtedly elected, and Pendleton, from the First district, is probably elected.

North and South Dakota.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—In North and South Dakota the Republican candidates are elected by majorities that are greatly reduced. Carter, Republican, is elected to congress, but the official count will probably be necessary.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—Maryland sends an unbroken Democratic delegation to congress. McKaig defeats McComas by about 300, and Compton wins over Mudd by 800. The other Democratic majorities are in the thousands.

Washington.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Returns from a scattering portion of the state of Washington indicate a light vote with Democratic gains. Carrol, Democrat, for congress, running ahead of his ticket.

Montana.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 5.—Ex-Governor White, chairman of the Republican state committee, expresses confidence in the election of Carter, and a majority of the Republican state senators.

Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5.—It is reasonably certain that out of eleven congressional districts in Kentucky ten have gone Democratic by increased majorities. Eleventh district in doubt.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 5.—The election passed off quietly throughout the state. The indications are that a solid Democratic delegation has been elected.

Utah.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 5.—Caine, Mormon, is elected delegate to congress over Goodwin, Liberal, by 3,000 to 5,000 majority.

NEW YORK PRESS COMMENTS.

The Result Summed Up by The Sun, Times and Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Sun says: The next house of representatives is evidently Democratic by about 35 majority. The most remarkable result is the overturn in New Hampshire. The gains in Rhode Island and Massachusetts are very notable. The southern states show heavy Democratic gains, the Republicans being wiped out in Missouri and Maryland. McComas, leader of the Republicans in the house, is badly defeated in a Republican district.

It appears that Cannon will figure again in congress, and that local pride has re-elected McKinley, the Republican leader. Henry Cabot Lodge, the author of the force bill, gets through by a small majority over Dr William Everett. The Farmers' Alliance candidates in the south, endorsed by Democrats, are nearly all elected. All the Democrats who were ousted are sent back by large majorities.

The Times says: The Democrats have completely overthrown the Republicans in the house of representatives. The Fifty-second congress will consist of 332 members, as follows: Democrats, 201; Republicans, 129; Democratic majority, 71.

The Tribune says the returns from the states indicate the return of 167 Republican and 165 Democratic congressmen.

The Herald figures out a Democratic majority of 40 in the next house of representatives, and says the Republicans appear to have a slight lead in the state assembly.

HER HUSBAND'S DOUBLE.

Peru's Ex-President Escapes Through an Old but Clever Trick.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Further details of the escape from prison in Lima, Peru, of Dr. Nicholas Pierola, ex-president of Peru, have just reached the city. He had been put in jail on charges of disloyalty and also on charge of being responsible for the loss of the last few battles of the war between Bolivia and Peru against Chili. While awaiting sentence the privilege was given his family of dining with him on Sunday.

One Sunday his wife, accompanied by her children came as usual, to the prison. The jailer did not notice that she seemed a little more robust than usual and that she carried a small basket. She remained for supper under the plea of illness. At 7:30 the children were led out by a person whom the jail officials thought to be the wife of the prisoner. At 9 o'clock the jailer came to Pierola's cell. The prisoner was in bed. At daybreak the next morning all the prisoners turned up except Pierola. His cell was visited and his wife was found snugly wrapped in the bed clothing. The prison officials were wonderstruck. Telegrams were at once sent to all ports to watch for the escaped man, but no trace of him was found.

The authorities have not heard of him as yet and if it had not been for an accidental meeting in this city between Pierola and one of his friends, his whereabouts would still be unknown. Pierola said that after escaping he went to Callao. From there he went to a little village further down the coast, where he remained secluded for some time. He then caught the Pacific mail steamer and came to New York. Since he was seen here nothing has been heard of him. It is believed that he has gone to San Francisco.

FASTING FOR FORTY-FIVE DAYS.

Italy's Professional Faster Starts on Another Foodless Journey.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Signor Jean Succi, of Italy, Africa and the world at large, will gird up his loins this evening and endeavor for forty days and five to show an anxious public how to live at the rate of nothing and Croton a year. He has done some mighty short eating in his day. Signor Succi, and he is now going to try and lengthen the shortness thereof by five days.

His biggest record was earned in London last spring, when he triumphantly lived for forty days on his own inner consciousness and came out with a balance of ninety pounds averdupois and a good many hundred pounds sterling to his credit. The signor has engaged some large parlors in the Koster & Bial building on West Twenty-third street. He will hang out the latchstring at 8 o'clock in the evening, and will be at home until the evening of the 20th of December.

A neat little bed will be placed in plain sight of all who come, but Succi is not going to give any exhibition of bed-ridden suffering. This is not his style. He is the liveliest faster that ever fasted, and he has lots of fun and heaps of exercise while indulging in the brain-like operation of living on his own fat. A competent board of physicians will keep watch day and night to see that does not make any blunders with his digestive apparatus.

ENGLAND'S BLUFF.

Building Extensive Forts in the West Indies.

BRINGING OVER THE REDCOATS.

A London Dispatch to The New York Times Tells How John Bull is Strengthening in the West Indies His "Fighting Hold on the United States"—New Cable Connections.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Times has the following: The British are reported to be actively engaged in Jamaica, Bermuda and St. Lucia, West Indies, in fortifying these places against all possible likelihood of capture. Extensive coaling stations are being established in Jamaica and St. Lucia. Bermuda is also to have one. All British troops in West Indian Islands are being concentrated. No other posts are to be held but Jamaica, St. Lucia and Bermuda.

But for the fear of exciting comment the forces now in the Bahamas would be withdrawn at once. The British admiralty and war office, it appears, are determined to insure coaling stations to British cruisers in the event of hostilities with the United States. Unless St. Lucia, Jamaica, and Bermuda can be held, it will be impossible to operate with the heavy battleships against the North American coast. These vessels are limited in coal carrying capacity to barely enough to carry them across the Atlantic ocean. Unless they can be resupplied on reaching the vicinity of the American coast their efficiency will at once be destroyed.

From Bermuda to New York is forty hours' steaming, much less to many of Great Britain's cruisers. From Jamaica or St. Lucia to the American coast is forty-eight hours. From well-informed sources the impression is given out that the detail of the Grenadier guards to Bermuda because of mutiny is all a canard. The British authorities decided some time ago to send the very pick of the British troops to the West Indies, and in this way doubly assure the defense of what is now recognized in military circles as Great Britian's "fighting hold on the United States.

The detail of the guards to Bermuda has caused this post to be placed second to Gibraltar in importance. The greatest secrecy is being observed in all the improvements now in progress, but the works are growing day by day. The British are working as if they exected war in a few months with the United States. Bodies of troops are being quietly concentrated in detachments of twenties and fifties. If this concentration continues much longer all the troops in the Bahamas will be at Jamaica. Nassau has only a mere guard left, the removal of the forces stationed there having been in progress during the past summer and continuing up to the present.

In a report submitted last week by the colonial defense committee to the British authorities it was stated that "this, policy concentration, is now being carried out." The committee further states that "there has been no question of abandoning any of the West India colonies or of leaving them to their own unaided resurces in time of war." The policy, it states, "is based on the principle that the protection of the West Indies as a whole must depend upon the navy operating in sufficient force."

The committee also states that "in accordance with the recommendations of the royal commission it was decided to fortify and maintain imperial coaling stations at Jamaica and St. Lucia, these points being selected on account of their strategic importance in relation to the operations of her majesty's navy in these waters, and to concentrate there all the imperial troops in the West Indies."

Cable communications are to be established between all the islands. The ends of the cables in Jamaica, St. Lucia and Bermuda will come into the forts. These cables will tap the main Halifax cable. They are under no conditions to connect with American wires. More troops are to be sent out from England as soon as the barracks and works now building are in a receptive state.

The imperial troops have now been wholly withdrawn from the Bahamas, only a few colored battalions remaining. These forces keep up a show of defense. The defense committees declares that the warfare of the British empire depends on the assurance of the safety of Jamaica, St. Lucia and Bermuda against the attacks of a contiguous power.

A Ray of Hope.

For all who are held by the chains of scrofula or other diseases of the blood comes from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by imparting the elements of good health and strength to the vital fluid, dissolves the bonds of disease and sets the captive free. No other remedy in existence combines the positive economy, the peculiar merit and the medicinal power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WEDNESDAY, - - NOVEMBER 5

THE defeat of Mr. Beale for probate judge is not only a disappointment but it is a verification of the impossibility of electing a republican to an office in Marion county, outside of commissioner where never more than a minority representation can be secured. No better man ever graced a county ticket than Mr. Beale. His personal popularity and fitness for the place were deemed sufficient to elect him—in a contest against a man whose competency was not only questioned but whose incompetency was pretty freely admitted until his threatened defeat frightened the party organization to a hard and vigorous fight. The republicans were apparently united, too, and he was accorded all possible support except what money will buy among precinct politicians.

Republican defeat has heretofore been charged to the lack of canvassing on the part of candidates in whom all hopes were centered, but that excuse is now dashed to pieces on the rocks of the democratic Gibraltar. Mr. Beale made a good, honorable canvass and won many friends, and he made many votes, but the conversion of an hundred more were needed to bring him victory. A candidate with boodle could have secured them, but Mr. Beale was not a boodler. He was a candidate in the highest sense of the term, a good, available man appealing for the support of thinking citizens—those who believe some qualification necessary for office besides party nomination. There are some voters in the county who can see beyond party lines, but they are few, and every democrat that scratches comes near being met by a republican mugwump who has become angelic through jealousy or tomfoolery and undoes all the good that democratic support lends.

We repeat that Mr. Beale's defeat is a great disappointment, not because the probate judge controls any great patronage nor solely because of Mr. Beale's exceptional worth, but the result confronts the republicans with the fact that they are a hopeless minority. A different state of affairs would be better all around. Doubtful results would necessarily induce better nominations, as a rule, and the outcome would give a higher order of service in county offices.

THE result of the election is yet largely in doubt. A late special dispatch says that McKinley's district is still in doubt. We take this to mean his defeat, after a famous and gallant fight. He may, however, pull through.

Republicans can figure no hope for Foster's election. The result is very close. The returns so far would indicate that Foster must carry Hancock county by about 300 to win, and that seems impossible. The disappointment to the Foster forces comes from Union county, where the republican majority is much less than figured upon. Marion may have fallen below expectations on the Foster vote, but not notably so.

The Ohio state ticket and Cincinnati furnishes a cheering republican victory, but the democrats find ample ground for joy outside of Ohio. They have likely secured a majority of the congressmen, and have won some notable state elections.

IT is observed that Tammany got there in New York with both feet as usual. The fellow that intimated that Tammany would be knocked out had about as wise a view of the thing as the fellows who talked about Pennsylvania going democratic. Tammany and Pennsylvania are hardly doubtful quantities in politics, at any rate no more doubtful than Texas.

It has been stated that the coming railway city is being located [illegible] on the Pennsylvania line, fourteen miles east of Pittsburg. The company has secured [illegible] acres of land and will erect machine shops and finishing shops. It is predicted that within a year the town will have a population of [illegible] people.

The returns of the Indian railways for the year just passed show encouraging financial results. The net loss to the state is just under 100 lacs of rupees, and is mainly due to the military and guaranteed lines. The former were never expected to be remunerative, while the loss on the latter is chiefly due to the high rate of guaranteed interest.

The only engine on the Maryland Southern railroad ran off the track into a ditch last year, and there wasn't sufficient money in the treasury to restore it to its former position. The motive power is now supplied by two horses, who make the round trip of eighteen miles, from Hughesville to Brandywine and back, in eight hours, when the mud is not very deep.

Abram Stevens Hewitt is as fond of society as a debutante. When he is well he likes to have his home in Lexington avenue, New York, ablaze with lights and all the young people about him.

Col. Dan Lamont takes it out in trout fishing. In the spring and fall he wades the streams of central and northern New York from sunrise to sunset. He would rather cast a fly for trout than eat.

Mr. Depew takes the keenest and most sincere enjoyment in a romp with his little son Chauncey, whom he addresses as "Buster." Mr. Depew's son is a fair faced boy of 12, with the refined ways of a delicately nurtured girl.

not only in the soft and easily dissolved limestone, but in the hardest granite and lava. Cut 1 shows a colony of these curious little animals as left by the receding tide. The way in which these holes or cavities in the rocks are formed is a matter of some dispute, and in a recent paper in The American Naturalist is given an interesting resume of the different theories advanced.

In the second cut is shown a sea urchin covered with characteristic spines at A, and at B an enlarged view of the mouth, or what answers for that organ. Some naturalists suppose that the cavities in the rock are produced by the sharp points of the spines with which the animal is covered, slowly chipping away the rock like the action of a file. Others consider that the powerful teeth are the active agent. Another theory attributes the work to the combined action of the spines and teeth. The more plausible theory that the sea urchin secretes a liquid capable of dissolving stone seems to be disproved by the fact that the cavities are found in the insoluble granite and gneiss as well as the more easily soluble limestone.

It has been noticed that the "kettle holes," or cavities worn in the rock by the action of stones rolled about by the waves, are a favorite resting place for the sea urchins, who often cover the sides with their [illegible]. One of these kettle holes thus [illegible] is shown in Fig. 1. It has even been supposed that the kettle holes themselves often have their origin from the small cavity of a sea urchin, which is afterward enlarged by the action of the waves.

The remarkable power of penetrating and destroying hard substances possessed by these urchins, in common with other fragile forms of life, is a most mysterious one, and awaits a satisfactory explanation. The soft, yielding bodies of these animals seem poorly adapted to wear away such refractory substances as stones and rocks, but it is probably another instance of the power of patience and perseverance. A pretty variety of lace work is carried out by the use of colored and plain muslin, the one applied to the other. Colored book muslin, say bright gold color, constitutes the foundation over which plain white muslin which has had a handsome design previously traced on it is laid, the outlines of the pattern being afterward worked over in chain or buttonhole stitch and the outside parts cut away with a pair of sharp scissors. This work is suitable for dessert doilies, as it admits of so much variety of color, pattern, etc., while there are many fancy laces which answer well as a finish to the edges.

nisher, from which this illustration of an Egyptian divan or seat of honor is a reprint, thinks that our every day furnishings are too much under the control of the professional dealer, who is himself ruled by the prevailing style or fashion.

The divan, or settee, with its rich embroideries, is surmounted by a wealth of drapery, the designs thereon being Egyptian in character, and high over is the winged globe, so common in Egyptian art, which symbolized the sun and its radiant life. The design of the rug on the floor and cushions thereon, as well as the embroidery of the chair covering, are all Egyptian in character, the lotus being the prominent symbol, which is also repeated on the dado and wall borders. The effect of such an addition to the furnishings of a reception room is, says the foregoing authority, at once novel and artistic, and would lend a dignity to an ordinary apartment such as is not usually obtained by a settee or sofa of the ordinary description.

Doing Up Fine Lace.

To give a slight firmness to the fabric—as starch must never be used—the least bit of gum arabic water or a lump of sugar will, if added to the rinsing water, impart the required consistency. Handsome lace ought never to be plunged into hot suds, but folded over and over, dipped lightly into soft water, in which has been dissolved a small piece of white castile soap and a pinch of borax, the lace then squeezed hard again and again until perfectly clean, then dipped again into hot soft water. Lace should never be ironed, but taken carefully in the hands, the damp edges and meshes drawn perfectly into shape, then pressed under a heavy weight for several hours between the folds of a piece of soft [illegible]

Among the Salamanca "supers" there was an Irishman named Monahan who has been employed on the Erie railroad at that place for many years, and is well known to everybody in town. He was on the stage the night in question disguised as an Italian. At the moment Mr. Sully began to harangue his Hibernian workers Monahan grew interested, and as the eloquent speech progressed he became oblivious to all else. Finally, unable longer to contain himself, he started to leave the Italians.

"Here," whispered the master of the supernumeraries, restraining him, "don't go over there. Remain here." But the excited Monahan would not be detained, for the blood of his native land was up.

"Hands off!" he cried in a voice that was heard all over the house. "I'm no Eyetalian! I'm with the Irish!"

Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood.

Scrofula

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla a marked improvement was noticed, and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. C. WHOSE VICTORY?

PHASES OF TUESDAY'S ELECTION, WITH NO DEFINITE RESULT.

Hare's Election in the Eighth Conceded but Not Assured—Beale Defeated by a Small Majority After a Gallant Fight—Republicans Looking to McKinley's District for Consolation—Scenes Around Headquarters.

Tuesday's election was quite a remarkable one in Marion county, and although the result may not reach republican hopes, it was nevertheless a gallant fight. The office of probate judge, upon which the fiercest of the battle was waged, has been carried away by 225 majority, while Foster ran ahead of his ticket to the extent of 150.

The scenes about republican and democratic headquarters during the reception of news Tuesday night were quite lively, but varied greatly. The great enthusiasm was exhibited among the republicans, and up to midnight they appeared to have the best of the situation according to reports received. There was great enthusiasm in consequence, while democrats were correspondingly depressed, many of whom conceded Foster's election by five or six hundred. The republicans gave it up for Beale early in the evening, but the announcement of every gain in his favor was greeted with lusty cheers. The wildest exhibition of joy during the night, however, was at about midnight, when it was announced that an estimate in McKinley's district put that gentleman's majority at 500. With Foster and McKinley both to the front, republicans went home happy and joyous.

There was a material change this morning, and democrats crowded about the court house feeling considerably better. The report came that Union county was cutting a prominent figure, having only gone republican about 1125, and that Seneca was rolling up a big majority for Hare. These figures were not wholly confirmed but local democrats were figuring a majority of about 60 for Hare, while prominent republicans conceded his election.

The county polled a light vote, and the unofficial count put the democratic majority for Cromley at 750.

The official count of the county was not made in time for publication, but we give the ballot for the offices of congressman and probate judge, on which the fight was made.

BOTH ARE DEFEATED.

The Gallant McKinley and the Ex-Governor are Both Believed to Be Defeated.

[To the Daily Star.]

Cincinnati, Nov. 5, 3:30 p. m.—A late special from Massillon states that republicans generally concede the defeat of McKinley by about 400. This concession is based upon the latest returns at hand.

Latest advice here says Foster concedes his defeat by Hare by 200 plurality. It is not believed that a correction of returns will materially change the the result.

Relating to the above it may be added that J. F McNeal received a dispatch at 1 p m stating "there is no later information Foster says he is elected." So there is unreliable news from some source. Mr. Foster would hardly claim his election unless he knew what he was about.

An Exchange.

He stole a kiss; the little miss
Pretended it did greive her
"'Twas theft," she said, and tossed her head
Like every such deceiver

"'Twas theft I know," he whispered low
"A greater you have done me;
With winning art, you stole my heart;
A kiss is all I've won, you see?"

With crimson blush her fair cheeks flush.
As glancing down she said, "Sir,
Return my kiss, for 'twas amiss—
And take my heart instead, sir."

Sweet Girl—Pa, the house next door was robbed last night.

Pa—Mercy! Next door?

Sweet Girl—Yes, and the burglars have been in two or three houses on this block within a week.

Pa—I know it. I know it. It's terrible! But what can we do?

Sweet Girl—I was thinking it might be a good plan for Mr. Ricefellow and me to sit up a few nights and watch for them.—Chicago Tribune.

And Then He Went Away to Think.

Literary Young Man (at party)—Miss Jones, I suppose you are familiar with Crabbe's Tales?

Young Lady (scornfully)—I was not aware that crabs had tails.

Y. L. (still more scornfully)—And I was not aware that red crabs had tails either.—Lawrence American.

How I succeed in business is a question which is easy for me to answer. In the first place, I do not advertise things that I can not do. I do not say that I will give you a suit or any other article for so much which is worth so much more. No man living man can do that, and he who advertises that is deceiving you and of such people beware. I ask a fair and living profit, which is necessary to carry on a fair and square business. Another reason is this: Everything in this house is marked in plain figures and that is strictly the price, be the buyer the richest or poorest man in Marion county. The largest line of Suits and Overcoats in the county is found at my store and I'll guarantee the prices on everything I sell.

—Quite an amusing story is told on Mr. Garfield, who clerks for John Riley, the north end groceryman. Last Sunday Mr. Garfield retired at six o'clock, in the evening, and was soon sleeping soundly, but awoke and thinking it was morning jumped up and dressed, went to the store, opened up, set the show goods out in front. By this time Mr. Riley, who lives above the store, was awakened by the noise made by Mr. Garfield and came down stairs and asked Garfield what he was doing. Mr. Garfield looked up from his work and replied that he was getting ready for the day's business. Riley then told him that it was only 10 30 p. m. It then dawned upon Mr. Garfield that he had mistaken the electric light for daylight and closed the store and went back to bed.

Dress Goods and Trimmings

Of all kinds, Hosiery, Underwear, Kid Gloves, Table Linens, Flannels and Blankets. We have bargains in these departments that only a strictly CASH and ONE-PRICE Dry Goods House can make.

CLOAKS.

We are daily adding new goods to this department, and, regardless of the advance in Plush and Fine Cloth Goods, we are selling at the same low prices. We buy all fine Cloaks in New York, which is the only first-class markets in America.

D. A. FRANK & CO.,

WHITE FRONT IN MASONIC BLOCK.

Beat the Record.

This is the 9th winter Kleinmaier Bros., the strictly one price clothiers, have been selling overcoats in Marion, and in that time they have done their full share towards keeping the male half of our population comfortably warm. For nine years they have also succeeded in keeping their competition in water that is not far from the boiling point.

But last Saturday was their banner day, as they broke the record, and sold more overcoats than in any one day in all those nine years.

As for the reason, nothing easier to explain. Their stock is large, very large, bought with cash, and the low prices marked on them induces those who "just come to look" to buy, and their neighbors, knowing a bargain when they see it, also buy. 1t

Excellent Company.

[Elmira Telegram.]

The Rinehart Sisters were greeted last night with a good sized audience. Their acting and singing showed them to be artists of great ability. The singing and acting of Leo Rinehart was especially fine and pleasing, as was also that of Bertie and Goldie Rinehart. The singing and dancing of Stella Rinehart brought down the house. The support was all good. The costumes were elegant, and, taking everything into account, we can say that they are a first class company and well worthy the patronage of the people.
